Now Check the Status of Your State Tax Refund Online

This year for the first time, Indiana taxpayers can check the status of their state individual income tax refunds online, the Indiana Department of Revenue has announced.

"This is just one more step in our efforts to make paying taxes 'user friendly'," said Revenue Commissioner Kenneth L. Miller. "Indiana has long been on the cutting edge of electronic advancements, and we are glad to be able to provide this newest free and secure service to Hoosier taxpayers."

Taxpayers should click on "Electronic Filing Methods" from the Department's web site at www.in.gov/dor/, then Check the Status of our Refund Online to access this service.

Taxpayers can find out if their refunds have been processed, if a check has been mailed or deposited to their banking account, or if there is some kind of problem with their state tax return. They can also find out whether their refund was intercepted by another state agency - for instance, for back child support or unearned unemployment compensation.

This new service is in addition to the Department's existing automated telephone service, which has been available for several years. To utilize that service, telephone users should dial (317) 233-4018 and follow the instructions. For rotary telephone users, call a Department representative for assistance at (317) 232-2240 from 7:15 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Both the online and the automated telephone service can also be used to notify the Department if you have moved, thereby insuring faster delivery of future refunds and correspondence. To do this online, go to "Assistance" from the Department's home page, then "Address Change."
